■ Managing director, teacher training instructor, ESP course designer, distance learning project manager, language teacher

Faraayand Yaadgiree Language Institute – Tehran - 1996 to 2005

This language learning institute, which I founded in 1996, became a well-established centre for language learning, research and development and distance learning.

The institute's clientele included physicians, university professors, managers etc. We designed and implemented ESP and General English courses for such organizations as IOEC (Iranian Offshore Exploration and Engineering), Tehran University of Medical Sciences, Shahid Beheshti University of Medical Sciences, Iran University of Medical Sciences, etc.

In addition to my responsibilities as the head of the institute, I took great interest, and had direct involvement, in the institute's distance learning project (called FaxEnglish/MailEnglish) and its Teacher Training Programme. And of course I never gave up my love of teaching and taught a variety of courses ranging from elementary to FCE, CAE and IELTS.

■ Founder and head of a Medical English Centre affiliated to Students Scientific Research Centre, Tehran University of Medical Sciences - 1992 to 1997

I created this centre from scratch, developing the syllabus, recruiting and training the staff, and managed it for 5 years. I also taught advanced general and medical English classes.

My work brought me in direct contact with many university officials and taught me a lot about the politics of management.

■ Head of translation department and Chief Editor - Forough Andisheh Publications, Tehran – 1990 to 1994

Interest and ambitions

My hobbies include reading (philosophy, management and of course detective and sci-fi stories), surfing the Internet, writing, listening to music and walking. My number-one hobby, however, is self-learning.

I enjoy work, especially when it entails finding original solutions to tough problems. In other words, I enjoy and respond to challenge. I have a strong sense of responsibility and am serious at work.

I believe – I hope justifiably – that I am good both at developing original ideas and at implementing them.

My ideal job would be one in which I could further realize my potentials, in which I am given autonomy, and which would give me a sense of doing something worthwhile.
